

Last August, I had the opportunity to go to Dublin, Ireland to attend a 5-day course in Europass Teacher Academy. It was part of an Erasmus + programme.

The aim of the course I attended, called 'School Innovation: A New Mindset for Teachers and Students', was to discover new ways of teaching to get a more interactive approach to my job. My group was made of European teachers from Slovenia, Germany, Croatia, Italy and Portugal. Among other things, we focused on project-based learning, artificial intelligence and drama.

On top of that, we were lucky enough to have time to go sightseeing and enjoy Dublin's wonders.

All in all, this was a rewarding experience, from a professional point of view as well as from a personal one.
